YANTIC

Local Guests at Manning Reunion—Closing Exercises at the Village School—Diplomas Presented.

Miss Lois Manning and Frederick Fuller Manning have returned from a week's trip in Massachusetts, visiting Worcester and vicinity and attending the Manning reunion.

Closing of School.

The closing exercises of the Yantic school were held in the senior room, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the pupils of the primary department joined in making the last school day pleasing to parents and friends who were present.

The exercises opened with a Processional March and the school singing "Marching Through Georgia." Then followed welcome, by Ralph Gibbs; recitation, Pleasant Thoughts, Paul Chivers; song, In God's Land, primary grade; recitation, The Flowers Party, Lila Smith; dramatic story, The Sick Doll, primary grade; song, The Birdies Ball, school; recitation, The Fairies, Charlotte Bentley; dialogue, The Peace Maker, boys of primary grade; song, Vacation Days, by school; recitation, What they taught Me, Mary Bentley; solo, Blue Bird, Stella Kilroy; exercise, Guess What's in My Pocket, primary grade; recitation, Just This Minute, Alton Kilroy; Vacation Song, school; playlet,

A mass meeting for the aid of the Irish widows and orphans was held Sunday evening in the Central theater on West Brook street under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. There were addresses, one by Hon. Daniel Morrissey and the other by Mrs. Ellen Ryan Jolly. Hon. George R. McGowan presided at the meeting. An orchestra rendered several selections and solos were sung by Kathryn A. Doyle, Miss Mary Canavan and Martin E. Spellman. The exercises closed with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

At the graduating exercises of the Elm street grammar school seventy-two pupils received certificates of promotion to the High school. It is understood that a majority of the grammar school graduates have expressed their intention of becoming High school students. The next year's freshman class bids fair to be one of the largest in the history of the school. The diplomas were awarded by Thomas J. Perry of the school committee, and Principal Elias T. Nye was in charge of the exercises. Superintendent of Schools William H. Bacon addressed the members of the class. The W. C. T. U. prize for the best essay on temperance subjects was awarded to Miss Margaret S. Jeany. C. A. C. and the Schwenk was given honorable mention. Miss Marion Woods took the D. A. R. prize for the best essay on an historical subject.

Philip Di Pello, aged 21, and Dominick Muscotte, aged 33, employed on the new national guard law to First Lieutenant Robert E. Freestone and Second Lieutenant Harold Merrill of the Fifth company, C. A. C., and the new Watch Hill road, were injured on Sunday morning when they were hit by a crushed car. The car was driven to a hole 15 feet deep. Di Pello's nose was broken and his face was badly cut. Muscotte sustained two scalp wounds and cut on the chest. They were attended by Dr. M. H. Scanlon.

Major Arthur N. Nash of Westerly has administered the oath under the new national guard law to First Lieutenant Robert E. Freestone and Second Lieutenant Harold Merrill of the Fifth company, C. A. ## MOTORIST KILLED AT WESTERLY

Louis Dotolo Drives Over Crossing and His Car is Struck by Train—Sudden Death of James R. Johns—Enthusiastic Meeting in Aid of Irish Widows and Orphans' Relief—Seven Hundred Voters Register.

Louis Dotolo, aged 38, a prominent mason contractor living at 5 Pierce street, was struck by a train on the New Haven railroad at the Palmer street crossing and instantly killed early Saturday evening. The automobile, of which he was the sole occupant, was totally destroyed and the pieces scattered along the tracks for a distance of over sixty yards. Mr. Dotolo, who had been transacting business in the lower part of Pawtucket, was on his way to Wilford court where he was doing some contract work. He went down Prosper street and turned up Palmer street, going, it is claimed, at a fast rate of speed. He was not shaken his speed as he approached the crossing but drove directly onto the tracks just in front of train No. 424, a local from New London to Westerly.

The engine struck the machine squarely in the center and hurled it several feet into the air, reducing it to splinters. Passengers on the train saw Dotolo hurled into the air fully forty feet. Parts of the automobile landed in the field east of the tracks and other parts were scattered along the tracks nearly to the West Broad street bridge. Dotolo landed by the side of the west bound tracks. It is thought that death was instantaneous.

The train, which was in charge of Conductor Harry Darling, came to a stop as soon as possible and the conductor and engineer, Joseph Rosewood, went back to where Dotolo lay. They offered their assistance to take him to the station, but Medical Examiner Stanton gave permission for the removal of the body to local undertaking rooms.

Dr. Michael H. Scanlon, medical examiner of the town of Westerly, who was summoned, examined Dotolo and pronounced him dead, but being from the Rhode Island side of the river he was unable to act as medical examiner. He called Dr. George D. Stanton, medical examiner of the town of Stonington. Dr. Stanton was ill and unable to leave his home, but he gave permission for the removal of the body, and telephoned to Dr. Main of North Stonington to act for him as medical examiner. The two physicians made an examination of the body at the undertaker's rooms and found a compound fracture of the left leg, fracture of the right leg, left shoulder broken, two had scalp wounds, one over the right temple, and fractures of all the ribs on the left side.

Dotolo was later removed to undertaking rooms in Westerly where the body was prepared for burial.

Several people living in the neighborhood said that the bells at the crossing were warning the approach of the train, but the automobile was making so much noise that Dotolo could not hear the bells, or he heard them and thought he could get across before the train reached him, for he apparently did not slacken his speed. The gates at the crossing are operated during the day but the gate tender goes off duty at 4:45 o'clock, so that he had been gone only about half an hour when the accident happened. The train which is due to leave New London at 6:17 and due to arrive at the Westerly station at 8:55, was late and extra steam was being applied to make up lost time. A passenger on the train said that he thought they were going about 40 miles an hour. It was about 10 minutes past 7 o'clock when the accident happened.

Louis Dotolo was born in Italy 33 years ago, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rafael Dotolo. He came to this country about 18 years ago. He has been making arrangements to become an American citizen and Saturday was going to Providence to take out his naturalization papers, but because of the pressure of business had postponed the trip to today. He is survived by his mother, who lived near Naples, Italy, and his father who lived with a son, Joseph, at 32 Pierce street.

James R. Johns died suddenly at his home, 23 Main street, Sunday morning at 8:20 o'clock. Mr. Johns had been confined at his home at times for the past year. He was out-of-doors Saturday afternoon for the first time in two weeks, but early in the evening he was taken ill with violent cramps in his stomach. He improved, however, through the night and at 1 o'clock Sunday he went to his dining room. He was taken ill again and went to his room, where his wife found him dead in bed about an hour afterwards.

James Richards Johns was the son of John B. Johns of John street. He attended the public schools of Westerly and graduated from the Westerly High school with the class of 1894. After finishing his high school course he was employed by the New England Granite company until 1904, as a draftsman. He was afterwards employed by Norcross Brothers of Providence, the J. W. Bishop company of Worcester, Mass., and the Woodbury Granite company of the same city. He has been in Westerly for the past seven years.

He was affiliated with four local lodges. He served as secretary of Westerly lodge, No. 1212, Loyal Order of Moose, was a past chancellor commander of Bowen lodge, No. 30, Knights of Pythias, a member of Manchester unit, Loyal ride of New England lodge, L. O. E., and was secretary of Nelson lodge, No. 264, Order Sons of St. George, and was a past grand master of the grand lodge of the State of Rhode Island.

He married Alice M. Hurst of Oneo, Conn., in Providence, in 1906. Two children were born to the couple, a daughter died about five years ago, and a son, Foster Kenneth, survives him, besides the widow, father and mother.

A Second Topsy, by Marion Gibbs and Leona Gallant; recitation, The Ride of Jennie McNeil, Mary Weller; quotations by all the pupils. Principle P. H. Dunnack presented diplomas to the graduating class and made a very pleasing address after which America and Home Sweet Home were sung.
 In a Few Words.
 Howard Bishop spent the week end in Waltham, the guest of relatives. Petty Officer Charles Bentley, U. S. N., spent the week end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bentley.
 Mrs. George Clark and daughter, June, have returned from a stay of several days with relatives in Attleboro.
 Mrs. C. H. Barber and her guest, the Stonington Union Association meeting Wednesday at Preston City.
 Miss Dorothy Clark of Attleboro is spending some time in town, the guest of Mrs. George Clark.
 Miss Nettie Cove and Miss Annie Elphinstone of South Coventry were week end guests of Miss Lillian Calhoun, at Pine Street cottages.
